Mrs. Mary Frances Purdy Hill Goes to Her Reward Nov. 26

Mrs. Hill Had Been In Ill Health For a Number Of Years

Mrs. Mary Frances Purdy Hill died Friday, November 26th at 1 p. m. at her home here. Funeral services were conducted Saturday morning at 10 o'clock from Garner Brothers Funeral Home with Rev. C. S. Liles, Rector of All Saints' Episcopal Church, officiating. Interment followed at Odd Fellows cemetery.

Mrs. Hill was born October 15, 1854 in beat 4, Grenada county and had been a member of the First Baptist Church for over fifty years. She was married to Mr. J. J. Hill, known by many as Uncle Josh, in 1890. Mr. Hill, loved and respected by both white and black, died on April 9, 1933.

Pall bearers were Messrs. Tom Meek, W. H. Kirk ,George Granberry, Jay Gore, W. Braxton Martin and Eli Whitaker.

Mrs. Hill is survived by one daughter, Mrs. Fannie Ella Mullin, one son, Mr. J. Will Hill and four grandchildren, Mrs. Ben W. McElwrath, and Cora, Pat and Walton Mullin.

The Seninel extends its sincere sympathy to the surviving relatives and friends.

Old-Age Insurance Is Operating Here Says David W. Fite

Work Formerly Handled In Jackson Is Now Done Locally

David W. Fite, acting manager of the Social Security Board's Greenwood Field office, reminds employers and workers of Grenada and Grenada county that his office is now handling enumeration and claims work formerly cleared through Jackson.

"Applications for account numbers for workers and identification numbers for employers in employments covered by the Social Security Act in the counties of Bolivar, Coahoma, Carroll, Grenada, Humphreys, Holmes, Leflore, Lafayette, Marshall, Montgomery, Panola, Quitman, Sunflower Tate, Tallahatchie, Tunica and Yalobusha should be filed at the Greenwood office, located in the Howel Building," Mr. Fite explained.

Also, an important duty of his office, Mr. Fite emphasized, is that of assisting eligible workers in filing claims properly for lump-sum benefits; and families or estates in filing lump-sum death payments. He pointed out that there are three types of payments, or benefits: monthly, lump-sum and death.

"Monthly benefits will not begin until 1942," Mr. Fite said. "Lump-sum benefits are now being paid to eligible workers who have reached the age 65 since December 31, 1936. Death payments are being made to close relatives or estates of eligible workers who have died since December 31, 1936.

"Old-age insurance should not be confused with assistance to the needy aged, which is generally known in Mississippi as 'old-age pensions.' The State of Mississippi administers assistance to the needy aged through its local welfare offices throughout the State," Mr. Fite declared.

Holcomb Vocational Students Hold Meet

The Holcomb Vocational students met in the Agricultural building Tuesday morning for the purpose of organising a local F. F. A. Chapter and electing officers.

The officers elected are: President, Joe Brigance; Vice-President J. K. Ward; Secretary, L. T. Cutts; Treasurer, Lewis Mullen; Reporter, Maurice Phillips; Watch Dog, Robert Lee Harris; and Advisor, Prof. G. O. Sanford.

After the officers were elected we appointed three delegates to go to Jeff Davis for the District Chapter meeting, Monday afternoon, December 6. There being no other business the Chatper adjourned until the next regular meeting.—Reporter.

Belhaven Choir To Be In Grenada On Sunday, Dec. 5th

Miss Jeffie White, Formerly of Grenada, Will Be Among The Choir Members

The Belhaven College Vested Choir of thirty trained voices will sing at a musical service of worship in the First Presbyterian Church of Grenada on Sunday morning, December 5, at 11:00 o'clock. The public is cordially invited. A free will offering will be taken to help defray transportation expenses of the singers.

The Choir, which is directed by Mrs. John T. Caldwell, head of the voice department in the Belhaven Conservatory, will sing the Christmas Cantata, "The Wondrous Story," by Richard Kountz. Miss Irine Mae Thomas will be the accompanist.

Professor Fred E. Powell, business manager of the Choir, will accompany the party. They will come to Grenada from Jackson and will leave in the afternoon for Winona where they are scheduled to sing at a union service in the Presbyterian Church at 7:00 o'clock.

Jackson, Miss., Dec. 2—Miss Jeffie White, formerly of Grenada and now of Jackson, will be among the Belhaven Choir members who sing in the Grenada Presbyterian Church next Sunday morning. Miss White, a senior this year, is a member of the official college sextette and also the Belhaven Dozen, the double sextette.

Mr. John T. Nason Very Sick

The many friends of Mr. John T. Nason, one of Grenada's oldest and best known citizens, will be saddened to learn that he has been confined to his bed for the past week with an ailment and his age makes his condition very grave. A trained nurse has been in constant attendance both day and night.

The Sentinel hopes that it will be able to report next week that Mr. Nason is on the road to recovery and will soon be up and about.

New Pastor Of 1st Baptist Arrives

Dr. and Mrs. Glen Wiley and baby, formerly of Tampa, Fla., arrived Thursday to make their home in Grenada. Dr. Wiley is the new pastor of the First Baptist Church and will hold services there Sunday.

Captain John L. Collins, Civil War Veteran Passes

Captain Collins Was Born On November 29, 1838 Near Serepta, Calhoun County

Captain John L. Collins, last surviving member of the 15th Mississippi Regiment of which the Grenada Rifles was a company, died at his home in Coffeeville Sunday, November 28, at 4 a. m.

Funeral services, with people from all over North Mississippi attending, were held from the First Methodist Church, Coffeeville, the following afternoon at 2 o'clock with Rev. W. C. Oates, pastor, assisted by Rev. Simpson, of Oakland, Rev. Dorsey, of Water Valley, and Rev. Brooks, of Schlater, officiating. Services were continued at the cemetery with the Masons in charge.

Captain Collins was born on November 29, 1838 near Serepta, Calhoun county, and moved to Coffeeville shortly after the close of the Civil War.

Besides his wife, he is survived by four daughters, two sons and several grandchildren. Taylor Collins, formerly of Grenada, is a grand-son and Mrs. T. J. Brown a sister-in-law.

Debt Adjustment Body In Grenada County Plans Meet

Chairman Invites Debt-Burdened Farmers To Participate

W. W. Whitaker, of Grenada, chairman of the Grenada County Farm Debt Adjustment committee announced today that farmers facing complicated debt problems and possible foreclosure are invited to submit their case to the committee for possible adjustment and solution when the body meets in a regular session at Grenada Thursday, December 9. The meeting will be held at the FSA office and will begin at 3 p. m.

The chairman pointed out that either the farm debtor or a creditor may seek adjustment assistance. The services are free and the committee proceedings and information presented are treated confidentially.

The committee acts as arbitrator in bringing debtor and creditor together in working out new agreements that will benefit all concerned and enable the farmer to carry on.

Committees in the region embracing Arkansas, Mississippi and Louisiana have successfully assisted over 10,000 farmers in finding solutions to their problems thru adjustment. Seventy-one out of every 100 cases submitted to the committees have been successfully adjusted.

The Farm Security Administration, successor to the Resettlement Administration, coordinated and directs the work of farm debt adjustment committees.

ASSIST IN FIGHT AGAINST TUBERCULOSIS—BUY CHRISTMAS SEALS

Anxious because of the increasing deaths from tuberculosis in Mississippi, Dr. Felix J. Underwood, state health officer, appeals to Mississippians to assist in the battle against this disease by using Christmas Seals liberally.

Calling Christmas Seals "little fighters," Dr. Underwood mailed a letter regarding their great usefulness to 13,000 civic and community leaders in the state.

"For more than thirty years," the health executive wrote, "in good times and bad, the Tuberculosis Association supported entirely by Christmas Seals, working along with health departments, has fought the "White Plague" until the ravage of this merciless killer has been reduced three-fourths. Millions now live who would have died if the tuberculosis death rate of thirty years ago had prevailed until now.

"But the fight is not yet won. Right now more than one hundred Mississippians die of this preventable disease every month, and it is estimated that twelve thousand cases exist in the state. No home is safe from such a menace."

Stating that there are three hundred state and county tuberculosis association workers in Mississippi, Dr. Underwood cited a few of their innumerable activities. Through funds derived solely from the sale of Christmas Seals, they provide X-ray films for clinic service, build isolation cottages for far-advanced consumptives, furnish bedside supplies, and most important of all further health education in every way possible. "It is a recognized fact," the health authority said, "that tuberculosis is on the wane where people put into personal practice the principles of health."

Last year more than 35,000 pieces of literature were distributed by the Mississippi Tuberculosis Association to teachers, physicians, nurses, and others interested. This organization has for several years been mailing a book about the cure and prevention of tuberculosis to every family in the state in which there is a tuberculosis patient.

"All of these services have been of great value in reducing the tuberculosis deaths in the state," Dr. Underwood asserted, "and official health workers all over the state are desirous of a substantial increase in the use of the 'little fighters' which make possible these life-saving activities."

Educational Council To Be Held In Nashville December 9-15th

Many Outstanding Churchmen of Mississippi Will Be Attendance

Jackson, Miss., Dec. 2—(Special to The Sentinel)—Mississippi, as represented in the Mississippi and North Mississippi conference of the Methodist Episcopal Church, South, will be well represented at the session of the Educational Council of the denomination, to be held in Nashville, Tenn., December 9-15, when approximately 300 leaders from every section of Southern Methodist bounds will gather to discuss ways and means for making Christian education effective through all of the church's educational channels.

Outstanding Mississippi churchmen to attend include leaders in Sunday School and young peoples' work and in colleges and universities in the state.

Expected to attend are: Dr. D. M. Key, Jackson; Dr. W. C. Newman, Grenada; Dr. G. F. Winfield, Brookhaven; Dr. Henry M. Bullock, Jackson; Dr. Thomas A. Carruth, Hattiesburg; the Rev. W. R. Lott, Oxford; the Rev. Melville Johnson, Starkville; Miss Beatrice Johnson, Columbus; J. O. Leath, Brookfield; Miss Virginia Thomas, Jackson; E. M. Sharp, Grenada; William Fulghum, Gulfport; the Rev. I. H. Wells, West Jackson; the Rev. Roy Grisham, Grenada; the Rev. J. E. Stephens, Clarksdale; Dr. J. L. Decil, Jackson; the Rev. W. L. Robinson, Hernando; the Rev. R. H. Clegg, Brookhaven; Miss Singleton Mills; Carthage; the Rev. V. R. Landrum, Poplarville; Mrs. C. A. Parks, Grenada; Miss Lynda Ramey, Oxford; Mrs. J. C. Barrow, Jackson; Mrs. J. L. Carter and Mrs. Hughes Knight, Meridian; Mrs. Madolin Foster, Hattiesburg.

The approaching session has been designated as the "Aldersgate session as the program has been arranged to stress the Alderagate Commemoration now in progress throughout the church under the direction of the College of Bishops in an effort to emphasize the importance of a personal experience of religion and to commemorate the 200th anniversary of the evangelical conversion of John Wesley, founder of Methodism at Aldersgate in London in 1738.

Social Security Number Cards Are Issued Holiday Workers

Temporary Employees in Business and Industry Are Qualifying

Students, farmers and others who plan to take temporary jobs in business and industrial establishments during the Christmas holidays should obtain a Social Security Account number card immediately, it was declared today by David W. Fite, Acting Manager, Greenwood Field office of the Social Security Board.

"We are issuing account number cards every day to persons who are seeking jobs during the holidays," Mr. Fite said. "It has been reported to us that many employers will not even take an application for a position unless the applicant has an account number. Some people believe that if they are not working they do not need an account number. However, if a person plans to get a job in an employment that is included in the old-age insurance part of the Social Security Act, he should write or call in person at the nearest Field office of the Social Security Board.

"On the brief application form, known as the SS-5, for an account number there is a question that calls for the name of the applicant's present employer. It the applicant is not working in an included employment, he should answer that question by simply writing 'unemployed'."

Mr. Fite urges each worker to take good care of his number card; to record his number somewhere at home where he can refer to it in case he loses the card. One number is all that any worker will ever need, he emphasized.

Edgar Noel Caffey Died At Duck Hill Sunday, Nov. 28th

Mr. Caffey Had [illegible] In Declining Health [illegible] Quite a Number o[illegible]

Mr. Edgar Noel Ca[illegible]ied Sunday, November 28th, [illegible] family homestead near Du[illegible] Funeral services were con[illegible] the following afternoon at [illegible] home of his parents, with Rev. [illegible] T. Mellwain, presiding elder of the Greenwood District, and Rev. H. N. McKibben, of Duck Hill, officiating.

After finishing at the University of Mississippi, Mr. Caffey made his home in Greenwood, where he resided until 1928, when he resigned his position due to declining health. He has been ill since that time.

Mr. Caffey was a member of the Methodist church and the Masonic Order.

Besides his wife, he is survived by his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Geo. W. Caffey, of Duck Hill, and four brothers, Rev. Shed Hill Caffey, of Greenwood; Josh W. Caffey, of Lyon; W. B. Caffey, of Duck Hill; and Sam E. Caffey, of Clarksdale.

Statement By Representative Rankin Of Mississippi

Challenges Power Presidents To Debate Over Nation-Wide Radio Hook-Up

Determined opposition to the compromises which the utility interests are proposing in their conferences with President Roosevelt is fast developing on Capitol Hill, according to a statement made today by Representative Rankin of Mississippi, Chairman of the Public Power Bloc in the House, who issued a challenge to Wendell L. Wilkie, President of the Commonwealth and Southern, and Floyd L. Carlisle, President of Consolidated Edison, to debate this issue with him over a nation-wide radio hook-up.

"If either one of them will meet me in such debate," said Mr. Rankin, "I will show the American people they are now overcharged by these utilities more than one billion dollars a year for electric lights and power, and will break those overcharges down by states.

"Their talk of spending a billion dollars for improvements is all bunk, and they know it. Why not reduce light and power rates a billion dollars and give the overburdened consumers of electricity some relief?

"What they want to do is destroy the TVA yardstick, and thereby wreck the Administration's power program.

"I don't believe that these utility magnates who have been fighting the President so bitterly are deceiving him now by purring around the White House.

"We have asked for a conference with the President in order that the views of the members of this group, which constitutes a majority of the membership of the House, may be presented before any change is made in the Administration's power policies."

GRENADA COLLEGE SITUATION

Holders Of Bonds Advised Not To Dispose Of Them—Commission Appointed To Liquidate Assets

The Mississippi and the North Mississippi Conference of the Methodist Episcopal Church, South at their recent annual meetings adopted resolutions directing the liquidation of the affairs of Grenada and Whitworth Colleges. To liquidate the assets of these institutions and to apply the proceeds of such liquidation to the discharge of their obligations, the Mississippi Methodist Education Commission was created by the Conferences and directed to incorporate under the laws of Mississippi.

The members of the Commission, four ministers and four laymen, met in informal session at Grenada on Monday, November 29. Pending the incorporation of the body, no legal action could be taken, but the day was spent in a study of the problems that would confront the group when the Commission is incorporated. All members of the Commission, namely, Rev. R. G. Lord, of Tunica, Rev. W. I. Henley, of Grenada, Rev. B. M. Hunt, of Jackson, Dr. Joseph A. Smith, of Meridian, and Messrs. Fred Smith, of Ripley, J. G. Houston, of New Albany, W. T. Denman, of McComb, and Boyd Campbell, of Jackson, were present.

In the course of the discussion it came to the attention of members of the Commission that certain persons had approached the holders of bonds of Grenada College in an effort to purchase these bonds at nominal prices. Regret was expressed at the possibility of these bonds falling into the hands of speculators. It is the sincere purpose and conscientious desire of the members of the Commission to work out the problems of Grenada College to the best possible interests of the creditors thereof, and to that end their best efforts will be devoted.

While the organization has not progressed sufficiently that it can assume any obligation, or make any definite statement as to its plans and procedure, it is the earnest hope of those designated by the Conferences to serve on this Commisison that bondholders will not dispose of their bonds to anyone who is seeking to profit thereon, but that the original holders of these bonds will keep them until the Commission is legally organized and is given an opportunity to proceed in an orderly manner in working out the affairs of Grenada College.

The members of the Commission desire that the holders of Grenada College bonds be informed that the legal organization of the body for the transaction of business will be accomplished as speedily as possible, and that when so organized the Commission use every possible means to see that the bondholders and other creditors are protected in every way possible within the power of said Commission.

Leonard Richard, 18, of Duck Hill, Died November 24

Young Richard Had Suffered For Past Fifteen Months With Tumor of the Brain

Leonard Richard, nephew of Mr. and Mrs. Henry Kahn, of Duck Hill, died Wednesday night, November 24 at 10:20 o'clock. Funeral services were conducted the following afternoon at Charleston, with Rev. G. P. Sledge, Methodist minister officiating.

Leonard was born December 16, 1919, and had made his home with Mr. and Mrs. Kahn since he was three years old. He had been suffering with a tumor on the brain for the past fifteen months and all the aid that medical science had to offer was given him.

To Mr. and Mrs. Kahn The Sentinel extends sympathy.

SUPERVISOR HORTON RECEIVES LETTER ON TAX MATTERS

L. P. Horton,
Grenada, Miss

Dear Sir:

All of the Supervisors in Mississippi realize that the people have reached the end of their rope financially and that there must be a beginning of the reduction of taxes. On the other hand it's imperative that the services rendered by our counties must be continued, for, to reduce our services means the shutting off of progress.

The people's (state) Treasury now contains approximately six million dollars which has been OVER COLLECTED from the citizens and should be returned to them by the State. This money belongs to the taxpayers of the counties and towns and they retain ownership of same until the Legislators elected by you to represent you and to cast your vote in the Legislature appropriates this six million dollars for some use.

A division of the State Sales Tax with the counties and towns means an enormous reduction in county and town taxes. This division can be secured by citizens of counties and towns instructing their Legislators how to cast their vote. We are mailing you today under separate cover twelve "Home Folks Budget" and ask you to give them to some of the most influential citizens in your district, to be given by these citizens to their Representatives and Senators with the request that they vote for the two laws attached thereto. If it is not convenient for them to see their Representatives personally please have them send same by mail to their Legislators with a note asking for their support.

This is the most serious matter that we have ever handled, as there is no greater service you can render your people than securing a reduction of your taxes.

Miss. Ass'n. of Supervisors,
Joe E. Fraser,
State Manager.

Medical Profession In U. S. and Canada Interested in Drive

President's Birthday to Aid In "Fight Against Infantile Paralysis"

BY DR. ALLAN ROY DAFOE
Physician and Guardian of the Famous Dionne Quintuplets

New York, Dec. 2—We of the medical profession, both in United States and Canada are naturally interested in the new National Foundation for Infantile Paralysis as created by your great President, Franklin Delano Roosevelt.

Through such a foundation, supported by funds of millions of your citizens—fathers, mothers, men, women and children, the nation-wide battle against Infantile Paralysis can best be waged. I know this from my own experience.

Science and medical research as practically applied by me and my staff made it possible for the Dionne quintuplets to live. From the hour of their birth their health was safeguarded by medical methods and practice developed through years of patient research.

In the same way progress is being made with poliomyelitis, one of the most mysterious and baffling infections in medical history.

I am told that U. S. Public Health Service reports, as of October 16, show there were 8,450 Infantile Paralysis cases since January 1st of this year. The records report but 2,036 cases during all of 1936.

This proof that the battle against this microbe must be waged continually until it is conquered.

Scientists in their laboratories must be aided by the necessary funds to continue their research work, to find out all about Infantile Paralysis.

In other fields noted physicians are patiently working on improved methods of treatment. The marvelous "iron lung" is an example of progress along this line.

The devastating effects of the disease already are being much lessened through improved diagnosis and in prompt and proper treatment.

On still other fronts of this battle against polio, physicians are endeavoring to protect children during times of epidemics through nasal sprays. Public Health Authorities of Toronto, are encouraged greatly over developments in this direction.

I am mindful of the recent epidemic in Chicago when children were promptly segregated and school sessions continued through the magic radio in their homes.

That is an example of what can be done when all of the wonders of science are employed to fight disease.

I know I can say that Canada is with you in this great campaign It is a fight for all America. I know that on January 29th, you will again make the President very happy on his birthday by making this great dream come true.

Thanksgiving Day in Mississippi was generally observed last Thursday. The custom of observing Thanksgiving around harvest time each year is an old one—especially in America. The earliest observance of the day was that of our Pilgrim fathers in 1621, and throughout New England it was observed throughout the colonial days. During the revolutionary war, Congress recommended frequent annual days of thanksgiving, and in 1784 a day was set apart to give thanks for the return of peace. President Washington and Madison were the earliest chief executives to recommend an observance of the day.

Since 1863 it has been a custom of president to make proclamation of a day, late in November, for the purpose of Thanksgiving, and fixed the same as the last Thursday of November. Of course, this proclamation made it a legal holiday only in the District of Columbia and in Territories, but later the governors of different states issued similar proclamations, and state legislatures made Thanksgiving a legal holiday.

In Mississippi Thanksgiving was made a legal holiday for schools in 1916, and Hemingway's 1917 Code provided for all legal holidays we now have, except Lee's birthday and Armistice Day. These were added in 1924.

In a recent "Capitol Activities" news letter it was stated that Adams county is the oldest county in the State, having been created on April 2, 1799, and that Jefferson and Claiborne were next oldest—created in 1802. Editor B. C. Knapp of the Fayette Chronicle, believes we are in error, and calls attention to the fact that old "Pickering" county was created at the same time with Adams. He is correct, but the name of Pickering was changed to Jefferson in January, 1802, and having retained the name of Pickering for so brief a time, it was overlooked, and the date of the county of Jefferson's creation was given. Both Adams and Jefferson are very old counties and have honored places in the early history of Mississippi. Both were named for early presidents of this splendid nation.

An educational building program amounting to $1,683,906.00 for the State of Mississippi will be launched in the next few weeks, according to announcement made this week by H. T. Cole of Atlanta, Ga., regional director for the Works Progress Administration. The MSCW at Columbus will receive $110,900.00 for buildings; State College will get $389,090.00 and the University will receive $438,181.00; while the balance of the allocation will be in smaller amounts and distributed among schools at Carthage, Hurley, Isola, Lake, Jackson, Magee, Magnolia, Philadelphia, Prentiss, Rose Hill, and Senatobia.

Gross Tax collections gathered from the ten different sources handled by the State Tax Commission continue to mount higher each successive month, and up to the close of business on Tuesday, November 23, total collections amounted in round numbers to $838,000.00 against $748,000 for the same period last month, and $734,000 for the same period last year. If the receipts keep up at the present rate for the balance of 1937, the total for the year will reach close to $12,000,000, or an average of nearly a million dollars per month from all sources. The Sales Tax alone for November will run over a half million dollars.

Mississippi's gasoline tax collections for the month of October went over the million mark, according to a statement given out by Col. Howard Dyer, Motor Vehicle Commissioner, and Mr. Dyer pointed out further that October was the fifth month in succession that the million dollar mark had been reached. October's receipts amounted to $1,045,494—$30,000 more than was collected in September this year, and in contrast with $839,914 in October, 1935.

Approximately 100 applicants for license to practice pharmacy in Mississippi were present to take the examinations Wednesday, November 24th, before the State Board of Pharmacy. The examinations were held in the Senate Chamber of the New Capitol, and members of the Board are as follows: W. H. Rose, West Point, president; Kelly Patterson, Jackson, vice-president; T. H. McMillan, McComb; Joe Veracbe, Vicksburg; and Law Wallace, executive secretary, Laurel.

It is not often that a state having a four year term as Governor, has as many ex-governors living, as does Mississippi. In addition to the present chief executive, Governor White, Mississippi has six living ex-governors, as follows: Governor A. H. Longino, of Jackson; Governor Earl Brewer, Jackson; Governor Theo. G. Bilbo, Poplarville; Governor Mike Conner, Jackson; Governor Lee M. Russell, Jackson; and Governor Dennis Murphree, Jackson. Ex-Governor Longino was chief executive of Mississippi from 1900 to 1904.

Mayor Louis Braun of Biloxi, president of the Great White Way Highway Association, sponsors of the tourist usage of the Great Lakes-to-Mississippi Gulf Coast Highway named the following vice presidents for this movement: These are Frank Schutt of Memphis; Mayor Walter Scott of Jackson; Mayor Travis Boykin of Hattiesburg; Col. C. N. Harris of Canton; Hazel Brannon, Durant newspaper woman; Arthur Taylor, Como, and T. L. Densmore, of Grenada. Wendell Black, secretary of the Jackson Chamber of Commerce, is treasurer of the Association. Progress is being made, looking to the motorcade which will leave the Coast about December 13th, for Chicago, and which will be headed by Governor Hugh White. The short route of this highway is by Highway 49, from the Coast to Jackson; Highway 51 Jackson to Memphis and to Mayfield, Ky., and then to Chicago on No. 45.

Director R. L. Sullivan of the Mississippi State Employment Service, announced last week plans for opening offices of this unit at Tupelo, Greenville, Meridian, McComb, Gulfport, and Laurel. The seven new employment exchanges will be under the direction of new appointees named by Director Sullivan, together with a few individuals retained temporarily from the National Re-employment Service. Hon. Leon Wheeless, executive director of the Unemployment Compensation Commission, is heading a training session for the participants in this work.

The Mississippi State Highway Commission held another contract letting in the House Chamber at the New Capitol on Tuesday, November 23, awarding an aggregate of $1,795,581 worth of contracts for grading, paving and one contract for approximately $47,500 worth of guard rails for use in the counties of Sharkey, Warren, Hancock, Lawrence, Adams, Jefferson, and Sunflower. Ten more contracts were awarded, covering some eighteen or twenty miles of grading, and about eighty-seven miles of paving. These contracts touched the following highways: U. S. Highways Nos. 72, 61, 49, 11 and 45, and Mississippi Highways Nos. 12 and 15.

Deer Season To Reopen Dec. 20th

Jackson, Miss., Dec. 1—With a 20 day interim closed season on deer before reopening December 20, sportsmen have turned their activities to game on which the season is open.

Open seasons are in effect on the following species under laws of the State Game and Fish Commission, according to Commissioner Edgar W. Wright, of Centerville. They are ducks, geese, brant, doves, Wilson's snipe, coot, woodcock, squirrel opossums, rabbits and fox, the latter being a year-round open season animal.

Under the season on ducks, geese and brant, which opened November 27 to run until December 26, the game limit is 10 ducks and 5 geese or brant. Wilson's snipe and coot, which enjoy the same open season, are limited to 15 for snipe and 25 for coot.

Four is the daily bag limit of woodcock, under the season which opened December 1 to run through December 31.

Squirrels have been hunted since the season opened October 1, and will continue to be sought by hunters until December 31. The daily limit is 8.

Opossum and rabbits are to be hunted until January 31, the bag limit on rabbits being 10. Rabbits, however, may be hunted with sticks and dogs by licensed hunters throughout the year.

Deer will be open for hunting December 20 in 26 counties, with the season closing January 1.

TWO NEW FORD V-8 CARS FOR 1938

THE DE LUXE
85 HORSEPOWER

DE LUXE FORD V-8 . . . 112" wheelbase; 85-horsepower engine; Improved Easy-Action Safety Brakes; Center-Poise Ride; All-steel body; Mohair or Broadcloth upholstery; Walnut-finished trim; Twin horns, tail lights, sun visors; Clock; 6.00" black tires, white side-walls are extra; 8 body types; 6 colors.

THE STANDARD
60 OR 85 HORSEPOWER

STANDARD FORD V-8 . . . 112" wheelbase; 85 or 60 horsepower engine; Improved Easy-Action Safety Brakes; Center-Poise Ride; All-steel body; Broadcloth or Mohair upholstery, Mohair extra in "60"; Mahogany-finished trim; One tail light, sun visor; Twin horns; 3 body types; 3 colors.

FORD offers two new cars for 1938—the Standard Ford V-8 and the De Luxe Ford V-8. They are different in appearance—but built to the same high standard of mechanical excellence—on the same chassis.

Because people liked our 1937 car so well, they bought more than of any other make. They liked its looks, its smooth performance, and the way it handled. We have improved on that car in the newly styled Standard Ford V-8.

But some folks wanted still more size and style, with the same Ford advantages. For them, we designed a new De Luxe line. The De Luxe Ford V-8 Sedans are longer with more room, larger luggage space, and finer appointments all around. De Luxe cars are equipped with the 85-horsepower engine only.

The Standard is even lower priced than the De Luxe. It has graceful new lines and well-tailored interiors—with a choice of engine sizes—85 or 60 horsepower.

Before Ford made V-type 8-cylinder engines available to every one, they were used only in expensive cars. Since then, four million Ford owners have learned the genuine enjoyment of driving an eight-cylinder car with all-around economy. The thrifty "60" engine, especially, makes possible in Standard models a very low first cost and equally low operating cost. With two distinct designs, two engine sizes and two price ranges, you'll find a 1938 Ford car to fit your needs exactly.

PRICES FOR CARS DELIVERED IN DETROIT—TAXES EXTRA

Standard Ford V-8 (60 hp.)—Coupe, $599; Tudor, $644; Fordor, $689. Standard Ford V-8 (85 hp.)—Coupe, $629; Tudor, $669; Fordor, $714. De Luxe Ford V-8 (85 hp. only)—Coupe, $689; Tudor, $729; Fordor, $774; Convertible Coupe, $774; Club Coupe, $749; Convertible Club Coupe, $804; Phaeton, $824; Convertible Sedan, $904.

Standard and De Luxe cars equipped with bumpers, bumper guards, spare wheel, tire, tube, tire lock and hood, cigar lighter, twin horns, and headlight beam indicator on instrument panel, at no extra charge.

In addition, De Luxe cars are equipped with extra tail light, windshield wiper, sun visor; also de luxe steering wheel, glove compartment lock, clock, and chrome wheel bands, at no extra charge.

Mrs. Jordan Entertains Woman's Auxiliary of All Saints' Church

Monday afternoon, November 29, Mrs. J. W. Jordan, in her delightful country home near Elliott, entertained the Woman's Auxiliary of All Saints' Church at its social meeting. This is an event that is anticipated with a great deal of pleasure by those privileged to attend as Mrs. Jordan always knows just how to give her guests a really good time. Her father, Mr. E. L. Austin, assisted her in his own gallant way in welcoming her guests.

The only business transacted was the election of officers for the coming year. After this an alphabetical contest was engaged in and Mrs. Sax Weir was awarded first prize and Mrs. W. S. P. Doty, consolation.

Mrs. Jordan served delicious coffee with Charlotte and cake to her guests. When the time came to go home, all expressed their wish that this be made an annual affair and in a very gracious way the hostess agreed. So all will look forward to another delightful get-together next November.

Mrs. Dora Rollins is visiting in Winona for a few weeks.

Snow November 27

On Wednesday, November 27, the snow came in heavy flakes for about three hours, and but for the warmth of the earth the ground would have contained two or three inches of it. The snow finally turned into rain which soon dissipated what little there was of the flimsy covering. Old citizens state that they recall but one instance of so many hours of falling snow in November and that was during the Civil War.

Grenada Boy Enlists In U. S. Army

Sergeant A. W. Evans, in charge of the United States Army Recruiting Station, 505 Post Office Building, Jackson, Miss., announces that Mr. Clyde B. Tanksley, the son of Mr. Abner B. Tanksley, whose address is Route No. 2, Grenada, was recently enlisted in the army for service in the Field Artillery and will be stationed at Fort Benning, Ga.

Sergeant Evans announces that he has enlisted 23 young Mississippians at his office during November for various stations in the United States and the Hawaiian Islands.

There are still a number of vacancies for young able bodied white men, who have at least an eighth grade education, of good character, with no dependents. Applicants enlisting now may have their choice of serving at several stations in the United States and the Hawaiian Islands.

POWER COMPANY LOSES VALUABLE EMPLOYEE

George Godwin, advertising manager for the Mississippi Power & Light Company for the past ten years has resigned his position and will devote his entire time to a business which he organized, the Dixie Advertisers, Inc. George has been president of this organization since it was founded and under his leadership it has grown and prospered and now has a national clientage He felt that the horizon for him was greater in the advertising agency field, and we feel that it is too for George is a natural born advertising promoter.

We know George during our five years association with the power company and know him to be a most affable gentleman, fitted for his job and giving without stint of his time to all affairs for promoting the general welfare of the community.

George deserves to go forward and we wish him success.

SOME FAMOUS MOODY EPIGRAMS

The world is well aware of the accomplishments of the late Dwight L. Moody, considered by many to be the greatest American evangelist. His great faith in and love of God enabled him to get at the very core of each situation in the shortest possible time. Students who have read and reread Mr. Moody's sermons have been amazed at the apt epigrams therein contained, some of which follow:

A good many preachers say I am lowering the pulpit. I am glad I am. I am trying to get it down to the level of men's hearts.

There are too many religious meetings which are sadder than a funeral. They are a hinderance to the Cause.

John the Baptist was the greatest preacher the world has ever seen, yet we do not see where he was called the Rev. John, or Dr. John, or John, D. D., or John, LL. D.

Thoughtless wives have sent many a husband to the groggery for the solace he does not get at home.

There would be a grand rush for Heaven if there was a back door and a way to get there without public confession.

It is worth living a life to help one man to his feet.

It is a good time to work with prodigals when they get in jail—they have plenty of time to think.

Ministers will not fill their churches until they get back to preaching all the Bible.

The Bible and music have moved the world more than any other two agencies.

A TRAGIC ERROR

Incurable illness that strikes an individual down in the prime of life, is one o fthe worst tragedies of mankind. But it pales to insignificance when compared to the case of an individual who, upon finding that his is suffering from an illness which public dogma has erroneously taught him to believe is incurable, hopelessly does nothing about it.

For example, there is the young man who dropped out of college in his third year because he was not feeling quite up to par. He drifted from one job to another, and finally became convinced that he had tuberculosis. Feeling that his days were numbered anyway, he shipped out as a deckhand to see as much of the world as possible. He struggled along for two years, but the inevitable finally laid him by the heels. Only then did he discover his horrible mistake. If he had sought competent medical aid two years earlier, his illness would have been considered little more serious than an appendicitis operation. Even now medical science may pull him through, but it will be a long tough battle.

The wise individual protects his health through sane living and an intelligent attitude toward medical aid and advice.

RECESSION IN RELIGION

The Committee for Religious Welfare Recovery has published a statement showing that support for churches has dropped off 30 per cent in the last five years. Figure that out for yourself. Isn't it a distressing situation?

REFUSED, WITHOUT THANKS

The Japanese Government tells the Brussels Conference to mind its own business and let Japan alone until it gets through fighting the Chinese, which leads J. E. Jones, correspondent from Washington, to write for us, his belief that the Brussels Conference has nothing left to do but accept the Japanese snub and he adds:

Our old "Allies" indicate that they intend to leave the leadership and the next move up to the judgment of the United States. Aside from getting our nose into that piece of war business the United States remains, as it should, free of the wars and rumors of wars in Europe, Asia—and possibly Africa.

A "SOCIAL CUSTOM" PASSES

Many people wonder why the Senate spent its first week debating the anti-lynching bill, particularly in view of the fact that even the South has abandoned the halter, as shown by the fact that there were onloy nine lynchings in the United States last year. The old "social custom" of lynching passes!

Newspaper men who have scratched below the surface are satisfied that most of this discussion is occasioned by rivalry between the South and the North for control of the Democratic party in Congress. The South with its minority of States now dominates many places of importance. The new crop of Democrats don't like it. So that's why lynching is made to look big through Washington telescopes.

TALKING ABOUT HOUSING

The new drive for a great national house-building campaign is being picked to pieces in Washington. The Government has played around a good deal with this problem, and admits that results have not been satisfactory. Building costs are high, real estate groups inflate prices whenever a section of a city or town begins to be considered desirable. Materials and labor are very costly as compared with operation in other fields of industry.

Of course the Government and private industry can do all that is necessary to finance housing. After that it is up to the buyer to say whether he is going to assume obligations—even though the interest and monthly payments are low—that will be heavy, steady and burdensome through most of his lifetime.

We are all familiar with the installment system of buying, sometimes referred to as "a dollar down and a month." That works out very satisfactorily when the amounts of the obligations are not too heavy. Mut a house that costs $5,000 to $10,000 is another and quite a different matter.

RAILROADS AND NEWSPAPERS

The railroad industry has applied for permission to raise freight rates 15 per cent, because its revenues are not sufficient in these days of higher costs and wages to pay expenses and leave an adequate amount over for improvements and expansion.

In asking this permission, the railroads want to do only what most unregulated businesses have already done. For example, newspapers all over the country have been increasing their single copy prices and in some cases their monthly or annual subscription prices. Increased production costs make this necessary.

The railroads are in the same position as these papers. Everything the lines use costs more than it did a year or two ago, even as a newspaper's main source of expense, newsprint, costs more than it did. And, like the newspapers, the railroads' only source of operating income is from the sale of their services—in one case, transportation; in the other, advertising and news.

Whenever a regulated industry asks permission for rate increase, the average human reaction is to protest at once, and hope that it will be denied. But a railroad isn't any different than a newspaper or a real estate agency or a grocery store or a specialty shop. It is governed by the same economic laws. And when outgo exceeds income, it must raise its price or go bankrupt.

THE COUNTRY PRESS ON THE SUPREME COURT ISSUE

At the end of the first session of the current Congress, it was believed that the Supreme Court issue would again be introduced at the next session.

Since that time, the feeling has grown that, due to the size and influence of Congressional opposition, the issue is dead, and may not see the light of day again.

If the country press of the nation accurately reflects the temper of the American people, the issue is dead indeed.

The Industrial News Review recently sent a questionnaire to 12,585 country papers asking four direct, non-leading questions concerning possible Court changes. More than 2,300 papers replied. Proposed legislation that would permit the President to appoint additional Justices, was opposed by 90.4 per cent; 71.6 percent were opposed to the proposal that a two-thirds vote of the court be required to declare acts of Congress unconstitutional; 72 per cent were opposed to any bill forcing Justices to retire at an age fixed by law. And 88.3 per cent were opposed to a constitutional amendment limiting the authority of the court over acts of Congress.

There was a remarkable consistency in the views of editors in far separated states, showing sentiment solidified against court changes, irrespective of sectional politics and feelings. The completed questionnaires, toegther with a multitude of supplemental notes and letters, indicate that these editors—as did the Congressional majority when the court bill was voted on—feel that the Supreme Court is the bulwark of our liberties, and our first line of defense against dictatorship, and that it would be a national catastrophe to tamper with it.

The country press is not swayed by momentary enthusiasms, or political hysteria. It looks at issues in the light of their effect on the fundamentals of government. It thinks them out. And no better example of this fact could be found than in the editors' reply to the Industrial News Review's Court questionnaire.

Ford V-Type 8-Cylinder Cars For 1938 Go On Display Today in Ford Showrooms

Ford V-type 8-cylinder cars for 1938 go on display today in Ford dealer showrooms throughout the United States. They are offered this year as two distinct lines, differing in appearance and price. Both are in the lowest price field.

One is a newly-styled standard Ford line, in coupe, Tudor and Fordor body types, powered either with the 85 or the 60 horsepower V-8 engine. The standard cars are designed to meet requirements of the many motor car owners, whose means dictate maximum economy in first cost, as well as in maintenance and operating costs.

The other is a newly-designed de luxe line for owners who desire additional style and appointments. Powered only with the 85 horsepower V-8 engine, the line includes eight body types, the coupe, Tudor and Fordor sedans, as well as the club coupe, convertible cabriolet, club convertible cabriolet, convertible sedan and the phaeton.

The two lines of cars have the same improved V-8 chassis, but their styling is distinctly different.

The de luxe cars are larger in appearance. The hood has been lengthened. Its nearly vertical front is carried in a "V" well down into the radiator grille, with the familiar V-8 emblem at the tip of the "V." Horizontal lines of the grille bars and the louvres are echoed in a bright rustless steel hand which is carried along the belt to the rear.

The new standard line cars also present a larger appearance, with a newly-designed front end, grille, hood and fenders. The front end is formed in a "V", with the horizontal grille bars extending unbroken along the hoodside to form the louvres.

Fenders in both cars are massive, formed lower to provide more complete coverage of the running gear and extending farther back. Headlamps are again recessed in front fender aprons, new type tail lamps in the tips of rear fenders.

Interiors of the two cars are roomy and attractive, styled in keeping with the exteriors. The de luxe sedan interiors are larger.

A new instrument panel adds measurably to the beauty of the front compartment. The panel of the de luxe line cars is in walnut grain finish, that of the standard line cars in mahogany finish.

Instruments are arranged in two groups directly in front of the driver. In the middle of the panel is a grille, for radio speaker installation when specified. At the right is a glove compartment. In de luxe cars a lock is provided for the compartment and a clock is recessed in the compartment door.

Instruments in both cars are lighted by improved fringe illumination, designed to provide safer lighting for night driving. Interior lights are located on the right and left pillars of the sedans and over the rear windows of coupes.

Steering wheels of the de luxe cars of flexible multiple steel spoke type, with hubs of rich brown bakelized material and rims of lighter contrasting color. Standard car stering wheels are of three spoke type, finished in beige. The upper spokes are widely spaced to give the driver unobstructed view of the instrument dials.

Night driving safety is also increased by addition of a headlamp beam control on the toe-board of both lines. The control is operated by the foot. A tell-tale light on the instrument panel indicates the position of the beams, whether high or depressed.

Both front and rear seats are wide enough for three persons. Seat cushions and backs are finished in piping and pillow treatment. In the de luxe cars the finish is set off with rows of ornamental buttons. Ash trays are recessed in rear seat arm rests of the de luxe closed sedans.

Light taupe mohair or broadcloth is optional in the closed de luxe cars, tan hand buffed antique finish genuine leather or taupe bedford cord in the convertibles and tan leather in the phaeton. The seat cushion and back of the rumble seat in the convertible cabriolet is finished in artificial leather.

In the standard line, mohair and broadcloth are optional in cars equipped with the 85 horsepower engine. The mohair is available only on special order in the 60 horsepower cars.

The driver seats of all cars except the phaeton are adjustable and the amount of adjustment has been increased.

One of the unusual new features is the front seat of Tudor sedans. The seat cushion is full width. Seat backs are divided, each being hinged diagonally so as to swing inward as it is tipped forward. This provides a wide passageway on either side for entrance to the rear compartment.

Clear vision ventilation is continued in all closed bodies. Rear quarter windows of the de luxe Fordor sedans and club coupes are pivoted for additional ventilation.

Bodies of both car lines are all-steel. There is no metal-to-metal contact between body and frame, the result of thorough use of insulation. Safety glass is used throughout in windshields, doors and windows.

The luggage compartments in all cars is closed off by a wall from the passenger space, and locked with a separate key. The compartment door hinges are concealed, the doors opening from the bottom.

A new feature of the rear deck design is a combination handle, license bracket and light, formed in the shape of an airplane propeller hub. Spare wheel and tire are carried in all compartments except in the convertible cabriolet. In this type, because of the rumble seat, the extra wheel and tire are mounted back of the seat.

The V-8 112-inch wheelbase chassis has been improved. Its features include "centerpoise" construction, rubber-cushioned engine, easy steering, softer springs, improved cable-controlled brakes, semi-contrifugal clutch, full torque tube drive and straddle-mounted rear axle driving pinion.

Refinements in the V-8 engines to provide better performance, particularly at lower car speeds, and brake improvements increase the ease of control by the driver. Riding is made more comfortable by the improved springs.

Our Deer Camps

(By Rice Lawrence)

The first ten days of our deer hunting season for this year ended in no kill by anyone on Homer Williams' camp. However, Homer's dogs were running a nice buck, as luck would have it, and Marvin Mullen from Durrow Horn's camp, made the kill. Durrow split the bounty with Homer.

Durrow stated that he shot at a big buck not ten paces away but did not kill him. He said, "I guess that I had deeritis."

Legislator, fox hunter, deer hunter, dog owner, Amusement Tax repealer, and show owner Williams said: "My dogs jumped three or four deer every morning. Of course they were not all bucks as does were seen several times by various ones on the camp. Maybe during the second open season, December 20 to January 1, we will bring in some meat. I hope so at any rate, it is certainly a thrill to bag a big buck."

Some of those on Circuit Clerk Horn's camp were: Ed Marvin and Amzie Mullen and son, Warren Holman, Carey Clark and Vernon Carver. If I have failed to mention anyone that was on this camp, it is unintentional.

The writer was a member of Homer's camp, but it is possible that I will also omit the names of some of those who were also there. Nevertheless, here they are: Peter LaGrone, Louis Weir, John E. Little (from the Free State), James Russel Lockett, Walter Garner, Bert Bays, Jewel Batson, Captain Jimmy Shaw, Fred Merrill, State Forester, A. K. Dexter, Chief Forest Fire Control, Fish Oltenberg, Millard Crawford, J. L. Cooley Gene Trotman, Fred, John and Edward Williams and Collie Lamb.

For the first time in my life I saw Homer take refuge. He was all bundled up in a tent with a few other "top waters" with a "do not disturb" sign hanging out in front. Well, it wasn't exactly a "do not disturb" sign—it read, "Old Men's Home." You should know what that sign signified but in case you don't, I'll tell you. It meant "all you dice shooters, bull throwers stay the——away from here as I want to sleep and dream about the next fox hunt I'm going on."

The other section of tents in the colony had a sign on a tree nearby reading, "Night Owl Nest." Well that meant "do what you want to as long as you can and as long as you can get entertainment, after then you had better crawl in, if you don't want to suffer the consequences."

Everybody had a good time. There was no rowdiness of any kind. Possibly someone slipped off and took a dram, I don't know as all I went on the camp for was to hunt deer, eat and sleep.

"The roads to the camp site are the best in that section and you are cordially invited to drive down for our next hunt," so said Homer Williams, "but I would like for someone to come down with a radio and television set on their car as I miss seeing my picture shown very much—drive right up to the camp and make yourself at home."

U. S. Marines At Shanghai Guard Rice Shops From Native Looters

Hattiesburg, Miss., Dec. 2—Walton West, son of Mr. and Mrs. J. W. West, of Hattiesburg, a former student of State Teachers' College, who is now with the United States Marine Band, 4th Regiment, United States Marine Corps, Shanghai, in letters to his former history professor, Dr. B. I. Wiley, of State Teachers' College, gives first-hand, vivid descriptions of the China-Japan conflict. Mr. West has been stationed in Shanghai since the outbreak of hostilities, and has witnessed some of the horrible incidents accompanying the desperate struggle there.

In a letter dated October 3, Walton writes:

"Perhaps you are wondering just what part the United States marines are playing out here. In order to explain I shall go a little into detail. You see, the city of Shanghai like Caesar's ancient Gaul, is divided into three parts. These are: The International Settlement, the French Concession, and Greater Shanghai. After the Boxer Rebellion, each country was allowed to maintain a certain number of troops in the International Settlement to protect the interests of their country. Since there are quite a few Americans out here, in addition to a large amount of capital invested in the various interests, the United States keeps a regiment of marines out here for the purpose mentioned above.

"The marines out here are now busy guarding the northern boundary of the settlement, which is Soochow creek. In addition, marines are doing patrol duty to prevent looting. Guarding the municipal rice shops to prevent violence from being used to obtain food and a thousand and one other things. We stay busy. There is no question about that!

"We were called to arms the midnight of August 12. Being in the band, I didn't have the least idea of being called out. Boy, O boy! Was I fooled? We were ordered to store away our instruments and draw combat equipment. Every man available was pressed into duty and put on the boundary. The exceptions were the doctors, a few office workers, and the cooks. The company that I was assigned to was under a captain who was seasoned in the World War and the marine campaign of Nicaragua. His aim was to build the best barracade on the line. Did he work us or not? I'm telling you! I filled sand bags and strung barbed wire until I was blue in the face."

Walton West's letters were accompanied by pictures showing incidents in Shanghai's second major bombing.

ROAMING Through The GLOAMING

What's in a nickname?
For these I'm not to blame—
Where's "Sleepy" who's forever talking?
For his work he's always balking.

When Clyde, who sometimes is called "Pest."
With the girls he thinks he's best.

Then someone is called "Cissy."
This blond is a likely missy.
And Robert is called "Grunt."
For this label I'll have to hunt.
And "Dog" Williams, with such a name,
I know he hangs his head in shame.

Lawrence has been tagged "Lum."

On the subject A. R. F. he's kinda mum.

E. L. sometimes is referred to as John Boles,
By a gal who can't remember his name to save her soul.

"Oscar" is the psuedo of Kathryn Jones,
Over her lessons she always moans.

There are some names that I can't rhyme,
Maybe I'll make a few for next time.

Latest romance—Vera "Baby" Payne and W. A. Woodall.

Weren't the seniors glad to get their rings? Wonder how long the boys will keep theirs?

Notice: Peggy is still true to "Doc."

Naval Notes

Few people know that Naval ships have what is popularly known as a "Ship Bank." This is otherwise referred to as a deposit for savings and is provided for U. S. Navy Regulations. Men may deposit with the Paymaster, in cash at any time, amounts not less than $5.00 but not a fractional part of a dollar. Men may also make deposits by checkage on the pay roll. For any sum not less than $5.00 deposited for six months or longer, the depositor, on final discharge or furlough, shall be paid interest at the rate of four percent per annum. The deposits cannot be repaid until actual date of discharge. Three hundred dollars will bear $1.00 interest each month. There is no limit to the amount you may deposit in the Ship's Bank.

The record that the U. S. Lexington Navy aircraft carrier made in the year 1928 in her speed run to Hawaii, still stands, the two great liners Normandie and Queen Mary did not break this record in their recent runs to this country.

Ships of the Navy are equipped with good libraries, the men of the Navy read more than a million books annually which are loaned to them by the Navy.

The Navy has 40 distinct trades; 144 different ratings; and maintains 44 service schools. There are 123 courses of instructions open to the men of the Navy at the present time.

In New York out of a total of 18,663 policemen there are 1,830 ex-navy men and in the fire department a total of 6,651 there are 2,741 ex-sailors.

COTTON

Census report shows there were 13,609 bales of cotton ginned in Grenada County from the crop of 1937 prior to Nov. 14 as compared with 11,710 bales ginned to Nov. 14, crop of 1936.

WASHINGTON PARADE

By Ray Walter Johnson and Pierce

WASHINGTON SUMMARY
(Week Ending November 27)
(By Congressman A. L. Ford)

Legislation for agriculture was the chief, and almost only, topic in Congress this week. Monday's deliberations in the Senate revolved around the much opposed anti-lynching bill, an opposition very definitely expressed in the Senate all last week, but Tuesday was a new day. Shortly after the Senate had convened, Chairman Smith of the Senate Committee on Agriculture and Forestry rose in his place and made the motion that the Senate proceed to the consideration of the Senate Farm Bill (Senate Bill 2787). The motion was agreed to and Senator Smith spent the remainder of the day explaining the measure, which occupied ten large pages when read in full into the Congressional Record. Wednesday, Senator Pope of Idaho spoke on the bill, and the debate continued in the Senate for the remainder of the week, except for a one day recess for Thanksgiving.

All necessary preliminaries having been disposed of, the House will begin debate next week on the Farm Bill reported by its Committee on Agriculture. The general debate will continue for three days, and it is not known how many additional days will be consumed in consideration of amendments proposed by various members. Probably at some time during that period the Senate will pass its bill, discussed in the preceding paragraph, and the differences between the two bills will have to be eliminated by a Conference Committee, whose membership will be appointed from both Houses. Hence, it cannot be definitely known what the law will contain until it is ready for presentation to the President. The passage of a new farm law has now been given the right of way and will hold the right of way until finally disposed of. In the meantime, very little will be heard of other matters, waiting their turn for Congressional consideration.

favor the president for a third term. And like all odds they are subject to change without notice.

It's just as well to remember that political odds are never believed by the candidates themselves. If candidate Smith-Jones heard his favorite football team quoted at three to one he'd be careful to see that the other fellow put up three dollars before he fished the single out of his own pocketbook. But Smith-Jones is always firmly convinced that in politics, no matter what the odds, he has fifty-fifty chance—or better.

That's why you'll hear some strange speeches and see some queer cavorting as they jockey for the start in the next few years.

Sixteen Mississippi 4-H Club Girls Will Represent State at National Congress

State College, Miss., Nov. 25—Sixteen Mississippi 4-H Club girls, selected on the basis of their unexcelled records in club will represent Mississippi at the National 4-H Club Congress in Chicago Nov. 28-Dec. 2, E. H. White, director of extension, announced. Miss Elaine Massey, state girls club agent and Miss May Haddon, extension nutritionist, will accompany the girls. The party will leave next Saturday, Nov. 27.

The winners include Ethel Berryhill and Jimmie Dennis of Hinds county; Eva Lynn Brewer and Billie Jean Felder, of Pike; Maxine Flynn, Marshall; Blanche Wallen, Claiborne; Louneal Avery, Panola; Fanny Merle Hart, Yazoo; Mary Jean Baker, Rankin; Mattie Goodwin, Noxubee; Corine Shields, Coahoma; Cara Horne, Newton; Georgia Wilson, Lauderdale; Elizabeth Ross, Kemper; Carolyn Woods, Montgomery; and Helen Raiford, Lincoln.

Ethel Berryhill, Hinds, a club member for six years, canned 369 quarts of food products to win the 1937 state award in food preservation. She has completed three years work in poultry, five in garden-canning, and one year in home improvement projects. In addition to her canning, Ethel four time to prepare 89 meals, make 38 garments, raise 225 chickens, cultivate her garden, attend club meetings, take part in contests and put on exhibits. She won first and second prizes on canning at the Mississippi State Fair.

Cara Horne, Newton, won the Forward on Leadership. Highlights of her unusual 6-year 4-H record includes the canning of 2445 quarts of fruits, vegetables and meats and the preparation of 4320 meals. She raised chickens, made her own clothes and helped improve her home by refinishing the floors and walls, and by making needed articles.

Jimmie Dennis, Hinds, was awarded a trip on her achievement in poultry production. During 4 years she sold $302 worth of chickens and eggs. She canned 1058 quarts of vegetables, conserved 190 quarts of fruits and put up meats and conserved supplies of preserves, jams and jellies.

Even these feats did not take all of her time. She prepared and served an average of 150 meals a year and learned how to make all kinds of breads, cakes and new dishes. She has made her own clothes and helped with sewing for the family.

Maxine Flynn, Marshall, has conducted projects in garden canning, poultry, home improvement, goods and clothing. She was state winner this year in foods judging. During 5 years of club work she has canned 825 quarts of food products, sold $65 worth of vegetables, raised 371 chickens, made 40 new garments, remodeled 25 garments, prepared 125 meals and improved every room in her home.

Although only 14, Georgia Wilson of Lauderdale won the state award on leadership. This enterprising club girl conducted projects in poultry, garden-canning, home improvement, foods and clothing. That her efforts were well directed is indicated by her sales of chickens, eggs, canned and conserved food products which brought a return of $456 in cash.

Mattie Goodwin, Noxubee, won a trip on home furnishing judging. Concentrating on home improvement for three years, she remodeled, refinished and furnished her bedroom, the family living room and dining room. She made new curtains, selected and framed pictures, installed floor lamps, and worked in landscaping the home grounds. In addition, excellent record in garden canning, foods and clothing.

Mary Jean Baker, Rankin, topped a remarkable six year record in club work this year by cultivating a garden, canning 560 quarts of fruits and vegetables and 100 pints of meats, refinishing her dining room walls and floors, buffet and chairs and by making curtains for dining room and kitchen. Her record in poultry production and foods is equally as impressive.

Carolyn Woods, Montgomery, won a trip on health and home improvement. During six years of club work she has improved every room in the house, refinished walls, floors, made ir refinished articles of furniture, planted flowers and shrubs. She also helped to remodel the kitchen and install running water. Her work in foods and clothing included the preparation of 575 meals, observance of health habits and the making of 350 garments for herself and members of the family.

Billie Jean Felder, Pike, won the highly coveted trip to Chicago in style dress revue and will compete in this contest at Chicago. She will model a complete outfit made with her own hands. Her work in home improvement and foods is almost as creditable as that made in clothing.

Eva Lynn Brewer, Pike, won an award in canning judging. Starting with 1/8 acre garden in 1934, she has gradually increased her garden to one-half acre this year. When she canned 212 quarts of vegetables and sold $45 worth of surplus vegetables. She also completed projects in clothing, foods and nutrition.

Fanny Merle Hart, Yazoo, climaxed 4 years in garden canning, this year by winning a trip on canning judging. She has increased the size of her garden and the amount of her canning each year.

Louneal Avery, Panola, won state championship in poultry production. She has developed a fine pure-bred flock. Sales of poultry and eggs together with prizes won on her birds during the past four years total over $500. In her foods work she learned to prepare many new dishes and has prepared 1500 meals.

Specialising in bread making and bread judging, Blanche Wallen, Clairborne, was awarded a trip on foods judging. She won recognition for her skill and ability in demonstrating how to make good bread.

Helen Raiford, Lincoln, won a trip on her canning record. During the six years she canned 979 quarts of food products including meats, vegetables and fruits. She has raised a flock of chickens, sold surplus poultry and eggs, and done creditable work in clothing. She added to her cash income by winning a number of prizes at county and state fairs.

Cora Shields, Coahoma, won a trip on foods preparation and her work in poultry production and home improvement was also rated highly. She has raised a prize poultry flock, specialized in food preparation and many improvements in her home.

Already a certificate winner in both poultry and garden-canning Elizabeth Ross, Kemper, was awarded a trip on her all-round record. During five years of club work Elizabeth conserved 385 quarts of fruits and vegetables, raised 725 birds, prepared 1003 meals, made 312 garments, made improvements on her home and produced products valued at $963. She has been an active leader of her local club and has been prominently connected with both county and state club activities.

Meat Canning Rules

Select only healthy fat animals for canning. There should be enough fat so that no other fat would be needed to sear meat for canning. This will insure no rancid taste in the product. Be especially careful in having the animal properly killed and dressed, because spoilage is more often caused by carelessness in this particular than from all other causes. If it is necessary to chase an animal to catch it, let it rest before killing, because the texture and flavor will be improved by slaughtering only when the animal is quiet. Bleed thoroughly because bits of congealed blood in meat gives it an ugly appearance and changes the flavor, besides tending to make it easier to be attacked by spoilage organisms. Handle the carcass so as to avoid soil pollution. Have proper equipment for hoisting or handling the animal without allowing dirt to become attached to it. Washing not only does not always remove all soil, but it does always remove some of the food elements and changes the texture of the product. Be sure to chill but do not freeze.

If you are canning meat of any kind observe the following rules:

1. Can only meat that is fresh and in perfect condition.
2. Wipe meat with a damp cloth but do not wash.
3. Cut meat in pieces suitable for the size of the can.
4. Brown the meat in a small amount of fat without using flour, because flour is a poor conductor of heat and makes the meat more difficult to keep. It is not necessary to cook thoroughly before canning.
5. Add salt and pepper as desired after the meat is browned.
6. Avoid packing too tightly in the jar or can. Add only enough of the fat from the pan to make gravy when the can is opened. It is not necessary to cover meats with liquid.
7. If canning in glass, take extra care not to let grease get on the rubbers or jar tops.
8. Do not can meat other than sausage unless you have a pressure cooker. Use no canned meat that has not been heated before serving. In using canned meat for salad, heat it when the can is opened, and then chill.
9. Seal the cans while the meat is hot.
10. Put immediately into cooker. Do not close the pet cock until steam escapes freely.
11. Process all meats at least one hour at 10 pounds pressure or 50 minutes at 15 pounds pressure.
12. Do not taste canned meat until it has been heated for ten minutes to boiling temperature after opening the can.

Smokehouses Are Filled With Ham and Bacon This Year

Ever Present Need for Self-Sustaining Agriculture Furthered by Good Crops

High priced beef, pork and cured meats, millions of bushels more of to than in any recent year, gleanings from the fields, culled sweet potatoes and the like, set the stage, thinks J. C. Holton, commissioner of agriculture, for a record supply of home cured meats.

Always a highly desirable practice on the well organized and progressive farm, an abundant supply of home cured pork is especially to be desired this year, thinks the farm commissioner. "The cotton crop sold at distressingly low prices and while more cotton money may yet be had from Government payments and increased value of the loan cotton, there is nevertheless need of financial conservation on most of the farms in the state. The splendid harvest of feedstuffs will help, and adequate supplies of home cured meats will save millions of dollars.

"Mississippi's livestock population has consistently increased since 1920, and it seems likely that there are more hogs on state farms than at any time within the past ten years. Our corn crop this year, while not a record breaker like cotton and pecans, is the largest in a long time. The estimated production of 45,378,000 bushels is nearly six million bushels larger than the 33,570,000 bushel crop of last year. Fed in a balanced ration to good feeder hogs, this increased corn production will be worth considerably more than its present market price.

"But the increased corn crop by no means ends the story of available feedstuffs. We have a splendid crop of sweet potatoes, and the culls will help. Our hay crop is one of the largest of record, and gleanings from the fields of soybeans, cowpeas, peanuts, and velvet beans, otherwise wasted, will carry hogs to the finishing period and thereby contribute to dollar value. Most in the state, in fact, can double pork production without any appreciable increase in expense.

"The value of an adequate supply of food products of all kinds will be greater in 1938 than in any recent year. There will likely be a sharp reduction in the cotton crop, made for the purpose of increasing price. This will mean more land available for other crops. The use of such land for producing supplies now purchased adds just that much to the farm income, and is the foundation for sensible and profitable agriculture. An adequate supply of home cured meats and other feedstuffs is the first step in that program."

MISSISSIPPI FARM NEWS

Despite the low prices of cotton and cotton seed Mississippi farmers have much for which to be thankful this Thanksgiving Day. They have harvested one of the largest food and feed crops of record. There is both satisfaction and economy in cribs full of corn, barns packed with hay, smokehouses and molasses and farm pantries supplied with houses full of meat and molasses a varied assortment of good things to eat.

Realizing at last that the high tariff of this country has almost completely destroyed foreign markets for American cotton and largely increased the cost of nearly everything they buy, farmers are demanding relief. In what was probably the most historical farm meeting ever held in Jackson, the Mississippi Agricultural Association the past week adopted a comprehensive program of legislation which will be presented to Congress. It calls for tariff relief both in the lowering of prohibitive rates and in providing compensatory payments to farmers to offset the cost of the tariff to them. Payments would be made from funds obtained by levying a tax on tariff protected industries.

Mississippi farmers promise to hold the lead in the South in acreage planted to winter legumes in a great soil-conserving, soil-building program. County agents report that farmers this fall have practically doubled the acreage planted to hairy vetch, Austrian winter peas and burr clover to protect crop land from washing winter rains and store up needed nitrogen for future crops.

The darkest spot in the outlook for agriculture in 1938 is the all-time record world supply of 51 million bales of cotton and declining rates in cotton consumption. The world supply of foreign cotton is not only far in excess of previous supplies but purchases of American cotton by many foreign countries, especially by China and Japan, have suffered a severe decline.

The development of new courses of farm income and improvement of income from sources other than cotton seems to be imperative. Dairy farming, poultry raising, beef cattle production, on a moderate scale to meet local demands, as well as other farm enterprises will doubtless receive increasing attention from Mississippi farmers. Many farmers are beginning to realize the importance of their farm woodlands as a source of cash income. Protection of farm woodlands from fire, management practices that will largely increase timber production and practice of better methods in harvesting, are some of the things certain to be given more attention in the years ahead.

The Poultry Flock Like Football Team

State College, Miss., Nov. 25—The poultry flock, like a football team, needs a record of plays or eggs laid, and the number of made, of the number of first downs players taken out of the game, or the number of hens removed from the laying flock. The man who sells eggs finds it pays to count his chickens both before and after they are hatched, if he wants to know how well his flock is producing, says Miss Eva Leggett, assistant extension poultry specialist.

A daily record of eggs laid by pullets and by hens, together with a record of all culling and deaths in the flock, helps the poultryman to find the source of his profit or loss. A calendar to jot down this daily information as well as to keep a record of feed costs, makes it easy for the producer to keep accurate records.

The extension service has prepared poultry record books which are supplied to cooperating producers for keeping records.

Information on feeding, culling, care and management of the poultry flock may be obtained from county farm and home demonstration agents or from the State Extension Service.

Crotalaria Doubles Sweet Potato Crop

State College, Miss., Nov. 25—The yield of sweet potatoes was more than doubled through the use of one crop of crotalaria in a demonstration conducted by R. M. Randolph, manager of the Harrison county farm, in cooperation with Chesley Hines, county agent. Mr. Hines reports that results of this demonstration show conclusively that crotalaria and other summer legumes are profitable when grown by Harrison county farmers to improve their soil.

The demonstration on summer legumes was started last year, under the supervision of the county agent in cooperation with the Mississippi Experiment Station and the Extension agronomist of Mississippi State College. The purpose of the demonstration was to show the value of summer legumes and to determine which legume crop was best adapted to this section.

Four plots of one-fourth acre each were planted to crotalaria, sesbane, soybeans, and sweet potatoes, with the same amount of fertilizer used on each plot. The weight of green matter on five 10-foot lengths of each of the three legumes in 1936 showed crotalaria, 111 pounds, sesbane, 35 pounds, and soybeans 21 pounds. The legumes were turned under in the fall of 1936 and sweet potatoes were planted on each of the four plots in 1937. The same amount of fertilizer was used throughout and each plot planted at the same time. Yield records obtained in the fall of 1937 show the following results:

301 bushels per acre of field-run potatoes following crotalaria; 162 bushels per acre following sesbane; 198 bushels per acre following soybeans, and 129 bushels per acre following sweet potatoes on the check plot. This shows that crotalaria increased the yield of sweet potatoes 172 bushels per acre over the check plot and this yield was much higher than on the other two legume plots.

Many farmers in this county have found that crotalaria gives excellent results on other crops, such as Irish potatoes, corn, pecans, cotton, tung trees, etc. The county agent reports a larger acreage of crotalaria and other soil building crops in the county this year than ever before. He is urging farmers to save at least enough crotalaria and other legume seed for their own use next year. He is also reminding farmers that winter legumes, such as Austrian peas and vetch may still be planted, but urges immediate planting.

Horn Lake Club Leads In 4-H Program; Wins Award

Wins State Honors In The Current National 4-H Program on Social Progress

The Horn Lake 4-H Club near Horn Lake, Miss., rated by its Extension Leaders as the most progressive, wins state honors in the current National 4-H Program on Social Progress. Its report was compiled by members and their leader, Miss Lutie Pickle, assisted by County Home Agent Gladys Delk.

Now in its sixth year, the club has 30 members, held 21 meetings, and won the following record: Staged two plays, sponsored one musical entertainment, one lecture and one tour, attended a sermon on Better Homes, atended camp, listened to opera broadcasts and other worthwhile programs, conducted a safety campaign, sent fruit and flowers to sick, and held several discussion groups.

As state winner the club is given the choice of a $100 RCA Victor radio, or a record player or victrola and selected Victor records worth $100. It will compete with other state winning clubs for national honors and a $450 RCA Victo radio-phonograph, and trips to the National Club Congress in Chicago Nov. 26-Dec. 4 for five members and local leader.

The club also submitted a playlet entitled "The Mid-South Fair" in the radio-script-writing feature of the contest in competition for trips to New York City, offered the local leader and one member of the club which submits the best. As guests of Radio Corporation of America, which provides the awards in this program, the prize winners will inspect NBC studios and other attractions of Radio City.

LARGER PINES BRING MORE IS SOLD AS SAWLOGS

Before deciding to sell a stand of pines for pulpwood it is a good plan to find out if this is the most profitable way to dispose of them, suggests J. B. Toler, extension forester at Mississippi State College. Local market conditions will determine the best outlet, he says, but in general it pays to cut the larger trees for sawlogs, while the smaller trees may be thinned and sold for pulpwood.

A woodland may contain pole or piling timber which is worth even more than sawlogs. Holding immature timber for more years of growth will help materially in many cases to increase the net returns, as a 12-inch tree is worth twice as much as a 10-inch tree on a saw-timber basis.

The Forest Service explains that a 16-inch tree will return only 51 cents if it is sold as pulpwood at a dollar per cord. If it is sold as saw-timber stumpage at $3 per thousand board feet the tree will bring 68 cents. The tree will return $1.13 if sold at the rate of $6 per thousand board feet stumpage.

Vacancies Open For Service In Hawaii

The United States Army has vacancies for various branches of the service in Hawaii and for post in the State of Louisiana, Georgia, and Alabama. Men desiring service in Hawaii will travel through the Panama Canal and will see the world famed Gatun Locks, the incomparable beach at Waikiki, and will enjoy the climate of everlasting spring. Men selecting assignment at Barksdale Field, Louisiana will have an opportunity to attend classes of motor mechanics, cabinet making, photography, etc. Those desiring to enlist at Fort Benning, Ga., the Infantry School, have an unusual good opportunity to attend one or more of the numerous vocational classes at this school. A Post School System is maintained practically throughout the Army. The system provides general education and vocational training to enlisted men to enable them to increase their efficiency as soldiers and their value as citizens and enables them to return to civil life better equipped for industrial, commercial and general business occupations.

Application can be made to one of the following recruiting stations located at second floor Howard Annex, New Orleans, and Post Office Building, Alexandria, and Monroe, and Post Office Buildings, Vicksburg, Jackson, Hattiesburg, and Meridian, Miss., and at the National Guard Armory, Tupelo, Miss.

Take advantage of the opportunities offered by the U. S. Army to earn, learn, and travel. See the recruiting officer today with reference to your enlistment in the army. He will be glad to explain the advantages of being a soldier and answer all questions concerning army life.

Captain Frazer

(By W. E. Boushe)

Anyone even casually informed, if called upon to name that part of the New World containing the most sturdy population, where honor and self reliance are still standing virtues, where anarchy is far from tolerated and such degenerates as the late Hugbey Long and the present John L. Lewis would stand short shift, the answer would be Canada. We are to be congratulated that many of our highest type citizenry hail from there. Bearing this in mind I write today of Captain Alexander Frazer.

While it was my pleasure and good fortune to personally know Captain Frazer, I knew him to be a pleasant and kindly man, a good conversationalist, more than passing intelligence and very distinguished looking. He loved to talk about William Wallace and Robert Bruce, those half romantic figures of Scottish history in which he was well versed. He loved to talk of the part the Scotch took in the Napoleanic wars in which some of his relatives had fought. Still the most I know of him comes from Mr. August Olson. Himself one of the most wonderful men I ever knew, and with whom I lived and worked for ten years. Mr. Olson was reared in the home of Captain Frazer as one of the family. Never a day passed he did not tell me something of Capt. Frazer, whom he regarded as a paragon among men. And in this article I will enumerate some instances he told me.

Capt. Frazer, son of Angus Frazer and Catherine Campbell Frazer, "Distinguished names don't you think?" from near Edsburg, Scotland. In the early part of the last century they imigrated to Montreal, Canada, where their fine son, the subject of this article was born in 1832. Capt. Frazer went to work for himself at the age of sixteen in railroad construction work in Detroit. Later he went to British Columbia to work for the Hudson Bay Company ,collecting furs. Here, on one occasion, he came near losing his life. In company with six other men, while crossing a swolen stream, down which floated huge chunks of ice, the boat over-turned with all supplies. All managed to reach shore in a frozen condition and by the hardest made a fire. For eight days all the food was one trapped rabbit. They were going to eat their dog when a rescue party arrived finding them weak and emaciated.

In 1860, Capt. Frazer came to Memphis, Tenn., as a timber man for the I. C. R. R. While in Memphis the Civil War broke out. Capt. Frazer, though a British subject, served as a blockade runner for the South, and commanding one of those fast running boats is where he earned the title of Captain. Many were the races he had with Northern ships and hair-breadth were his escapes. On one occasion while in port, with many other blockade runners, he was surrounded by Northern warships .His ship being faster than the others in port, he sailed out was speedy, as I said and the warwas spedy, as I said, and the warships immediately set out in pursuit, firing the cannon in a continuous roar, some of the shell falling dangerously near. After they had pursued him a long distance, he haalted and ran up the British flag. Imagine the chargrin of the Yankee sailors on boarding the boat to find it empty and Capt. Frazer with his British citizenship papers, which served him often. In the meantime the other slower blockade runners had left port in safety while the warships pursued Captain Frazer. Captain Frazer returned to port, loaded up and easily outdistanced his watchers. After the war Captain Frazer went back into the railroad work. It was while inspecting timber on the farm of Dr. Green Crowder that he met the lady who afterwards became his wife, Miss Lucy Margaret Crowder, the daughter of Dr. Green Crowder, often mentioned in other articles I have written. The Crowders were all fine people, and leading citizens of Grenada county. Mrs. Margaret Frazer was a noble Christian lady. Capt. Frazer and Mrs. Frazer made their home in Elliott Station. Their old home, though now badly in need of repair, still stands. This home was also originally the home of Dr. Randolph Elliott, for whom Elliott Station was named. Capt. Frazer, for many years, owned and farmed that part of the Dr. Green Crowder property now called the Olson place. He was a good farmer, but changing conditions stacked the cards against him, as it did with most of our prominent Southern sons. My own people have told me that Capt. Frazer was a farming example and Mr. August Olson, the best farmer I have ever known, told me his knowledge came from Capt. Frazer. Capt. and Mrs. Frazer, as were their parents, earnest Christians, members of the Presbyterian church and I am reliably told that for many years were that church's largest contributors in this town. They also gave to other denominations and donated hugely to charities. They were the parents of two girls, very wonderful girls, Miss Rhode, a sweet Christian lady now dead, and Miss Courtney, now Mrs. Fite. In mentioning her I will use an expression a prominent lady used in regard to her and it is this, "She is really plenty smart." Mrs. Fite now holds a responsible position on the W. P. A. staff, as writer and editor. She more than acceptably fills this place, and indeed she would be hard to replace. In passing here will mention that my sister, now dead, once lived in the Frazer home while teaching school. The love and affection existing between them was a close tie only broken by death. Captain Frazer's last work was farming down in the delta. Also in his last years, he floated rafts of timber to New Orleans. He was said to be one of the most expert timber men ever in the country. He was a fine swimmer. In the last letter he wrote Mr. Olson, he wrote of a narrow escape from drowning when his boat struck a snag in an overflow in the delta. He swam to safety.

Back to Mrs. Fite. She is the mother of two excellent boys, one, Hugh Simond Fite, finished a course at Seminary in Decatur, Ga., and will be a Presbyterian preacher.

Captain Frazer died in 1897 and Mrs. Frazer died a few years later and both are buried in Odd Fellows cemetery in Grenada.

Reunion At Scobey

(Contributed)

On Sunday, November 28, a family reunion was held in the home of Mrs. Sally Word and Miss Ida Dollahite, sisters, of Scobey, in honor of their birthdays. In reality, to cover their ages one hundred and forty-five candles would have been necessary, but to prove that these ladies deceived their ages, many less candles than that were used.

While the crowd was gathering the old people were, reminiscing and the young folks were engaged in babble of their sort. At the same time, a great feast was being prepared. This statement was verified when, at the usual hour for such, all were called into the dining room where a table of large dimensions was covered to the n'th degree with food of all kinds—chicken, both baked and fried, beef roast, fresh sausage, back bones, sliced boiled ham, dressing, gravy, salads, pickles, pies of five varieties, cakes and other accessories. The meal was served in cafeteria style—this being a great feature of the program as it enabled each to get in a full store of "eats."

The day was a happy one for all and especially for the honorees who were the life of the crowd as they went about opening their presents and making exclamations over them.

Those who enjoyed the occasion were: Mr. and Mrs. O. L. Austin, Memphis; Mr. and Mrs. Fred Word, Water Valley; Mr. T. J. Dollahite, Oakland; Mrs. J. B. Ross and daughter, Agnes Ross, and Sam and Mildred Word, Clarksdale; Mr. and Mrs. Ed Johnson, Scobey; Will Allen Floyd, Scobey; Mr. and Mrs. J. W. McCormick and children, Martha, John W., Sarah Kathryn and Lula Mae, Grenada; Mrs .Vance Boswell and daughter, Katherine, Coffeeville Miss Lucile Best, Scobey; and Miss Roxie Barton, Oakland.

HUCKY AT 60

Says Alfred Clay, "I eat well, sleep like a child, feel refreshed in the morning and am rarin' 'to go.' Pretty good for a 60-year-old farmer who has had a lot of hard knocks. Jayne's Tonic Pills have helped me more than anything else in ten years."

JAYNE'S TONIC PILLS

A potent tonic for tired feeling and weakness due to pale blood that lacks Iron (Simple or Nutritional Anemia). Druggists say they're great. Much better than Iron alone for keeping up strength. They stir up a good appetite too, and help the ingestio of needed foods 75c

Farm Extension Workers End Successful Year's Work

Render Valuable Service To Farm People of Grenada County

(By J. L. Cooley, County Agent)

On December 1 Agricultural Extension Workers of Grenada county ended a very successful year's work. Annual reports to the United States Department of Agriculture reveal that all agents have made a total of 685 farm visits and that work was done on 477 farms in the county. A total of 376 demonstrations were conducted on the farms and in the homes, with a total attendance of 3,017 farm men, women, boys and girls. County Agent J. L. Cooley; Assistant County Agent, L. H. Stubblefield; Assistant in Agricultural Conservation E. R. Trotman; Miss Lottie Wood, Home Demonstration Agent; and Vera Sledge, Colored Home Demonstration Agent have been chosen to conduct this work in the county during the year, 1938.

Although approximately one-fourth of County Agent Cooley's official time was consumed by duties of the Agricultural Adjustment Program, more than 323 farm visits were made. 117 farm demonstrations were conducted. 1076 head of livestock were vaccinated for the prevention of diseases; 921 acres of land were terraced for the control of soil erosion; 1,400 acres of crop land have been planted to winter legume soil building crops; 52 orchard pruning and grafting demonstrations were conducted; 22 demonstration farms were assisted in farm record keeping and conducting fertiliser demonstrations with pasture and soil improving crops. Assistance was also given in organizing a Farmers' Cooperative to operate our Cold Storage and Warehouse Plant. More than 20,000 pounds of meat was received at the plant during the first month of operation and three car loads of seed and fertilizer were bought for our farmers.

Mr. L. H. Stubblefield conducted the boys 4-H club work through six clubs with 84 boys enrolled. Thirty-one Grenada business men sponsored these boys, visited their projects, encouraged the boys and gave them an excellent banquet at the close of the club year.

Eight boys won trips to the State Club Congress held at State College. James Shaw, Glen Peeples, George Mullen, James McNeer, James Johnson, Paul Childs, Ed McCormick, George Vickery, Francis McMahan, Francis Worsham, Charles Trussell, and R. J. Turnbo won prizes at the county fair with exhibits from their projects. Francis Worsham won first place at state fair with his champion Duroc Jersey Pig and a free trip to the National- Club Congress held in Chicago, Ill. Glen Peeples won second prize at the state fair with an exhibit of peanuts. He also won a place on the State Crop Judging Team and a free trip to the National Club Congress at Chicago.

Mr. E. R. Trotman assisted in conducting the Soil Conservation Program in the county. 599 farmers cooperated with this program and will receive approximately $70,000.00 in soil-conserving and soil-building payments. These farms included 51,196 acres of cropland. Forty percent or 19,000 acres were planted to cotton; 2,400 acres were planted to corn alone; 16,200 acres were planted to corn interplanted with peas and soybeans; 5,700 acres were planted to peas, soybeans and lespedeza. 921 acres were terraced to control soil erosion.

Miss Lottie Wood conducted the home demonstration work through 15 community clubs with 240 farm women members. Five girls 4-H clubs were organized. A total of 302 farm visits were made and 225 demonstrations were conducted in clothing, food preservation and home management.

Two hundred families were assisted in canning 29,310 jars of meats, fruits and vegetables valued at $5,934.00. Planning assistance was given in building twenty new houses and remodeling 61 farm homes. 13 homes were screened and 24 sanitary closets were constructed.

Other demonstrations and conveniences were: 10 pantries constructed; 17 kitchen cabinets; 10 electrolux refrigerators installed; 23 mattresses; 43 families refinished furniture; 29 floors refinished; 90 rooms papered; 153 quilts made; 23 chairs rebottomed; 20 lighting systems improved; 51 lawns improved; 4 bath rooms added; 47 floor rugs bought and 23 steam-pressure cookers were bought.

Members of home demonstration and 4-H clubs won the following contests: Miss Mary Douglas Foster won 3rd place in State Foods and Nutrition; Mrs. Albert Hayward 1st place in the State for best wool dress; Mrs. E. L. Boteler won trip to National Home Demonstration Council at Manhattan, Kansas; and Miss Martha McCormick 1st place in this district in 4-H club leadership.

Vera Sledge, colored home demonstration agent, did outstanding work among our negro farm women and 4-H club girls. The 13 home demonstration clubs consisted of 379 members and the 16 girls 4-H clubs enrolled 404 members. She made a total of 308 farm visits and conducted 176 demonstrations with 3,314 farm people. 203 families canned 18,215 jars of meats, fruits and vegetables valued at $9,466.00.

Other outstanding demonstrations and accomplishments were 233 quilts made; 14 mattresses; 182 rugs; 53 kitchens improved; 36 homes screened; 49 homes white washed; 102 yards improved; 74 lighting systems improved; 23 kitchen cabinets made; 59 storage units made for canned products; 33 families discarded the "dipper" and use individual drinking cups; 51 families adopted correct dish washing 78 sanitary toilets constructed ;5 poultry yards constructed; 69 poultry houses improved; 47 feeders made; and 16,710 broilers were grown.

Boy Scout Council To Be Held Jan. 13

The Annual Meeting of Delta Boy Scout Council will be held in Moorhead, Thursday, January 13, according to announcement just received from J. R. Flautt, of Swan Lake, president of the Council.

Elaborate plans are being made for this meeting which will be of the convention-type. Carl Everett, District vice-president at Moorhead, will serve as chairman of the program committee and R. E. Bobo, of Clarksdale as chairman of the attendance committee.

PARAGRAPHS From J. K. MORRISON

Senator Bert J. Barnett, who represents Leake and Neshoba counties is a sure shot for Auditor. He was chancery clerk of Leake county for a number of years.

Judge Sidney Mize was holding court last week. We eat at the same place. His cordial handshake does not indicate that he has a life-time job. You might take him for a candidate running for something.

Edgar Allen Poe, now state newsman for the Times-Picayune, John Hudson has gone with the Coal Commission.

COMMON SENSE TALKS ABOUT

JITNEY-JUNGLE

"SAVE A NICKEL ON A QUARTER"

In the series of COMMON SENSE TALKS ABOUT JITNEY-JUNGLE that we have been running for the past few weeks we have tried to show you why we cannot sell groceries on a credit basis and, at the same time, make it possible for you to save money on your food bills. Judging from the comments already received, we believe that grocery shoppers in Grenada and vicinity will profit by the information we have given and that they will be able to save money by paying cash and that this money can be PUT INTO THE JAR AND SAVED UNTIL CHRISTMAS. We have tried to make these little messages of a "heart to heart" nature. We have taken you into our confidence and have given you some of the figures on which retail grocery merchandising is based. We hope that through this reasoning we have been able to show you the way to better living through saving on your grocery purchases. After all . . . Jitney-Jungle is a Home-Owned and Home-Operated institution. We have your welfare, as well as our own, to consider. Next week we are going to give a summary of just why we can save you money. Watch for it! (To be continued next week).
